

How to get to Alcalá de Henares

From Madrid Airport - Barajas

By Taxi

From the Airport, take a taxi to Alcalá de Henares. The ride takes about 20 minutes and costs approximately 40.00 €.

By Train

Go to the train station located in terminal 4 and take the line C1 and get off in Chamartín, Nuevos Ministerios, Recoletos or Atocha train station. From these stations you must take lines C-2 or C-7 to Alcalá de Henares.

By Underground

Go to the subway station located in terminal 2 and terminal 4 of Barajas Airport and take the subway line 8 (pink), to Nuevos Ministerios subway station. Once you arrive there, follow the signs to "Tren de Cercanías" (Commuter Trains). When have purchased your ticket, look for the platform of line C-7 trains, whose final destination is Alcalá de Henares, or the line C-2 trains with final destination Guadalajara, although you have to get off in Alcalá de Henares.

The trip from Madrid Airport to Alcalá de Henares train station takes about 1 hour and 30 minutes. The price of both tickets will be 2.50 € (subway) and 3,30 € (Commuter train).

By Bus

The easiest way to get Alcalá de Henares is taking bus number 824 at terminals T1 and T2 at the Airport. You must get off at the stop located in Brihuega Street in Alcalá de Henares, which is ubicated in the downtown; in addition, it's the closest stop to the Workshop venue. The ride takes about 40 minutes and the price of the ticket is 3.60 €.

This bus departs from the Airport every 30 minutes from Monday to Friday between 6:30 and 22:00 and every hour on Saturdays, Sundays and holiday days from 7:30 to 22:30.

In addition, there is an express bus that goes from terminals T1, T2 and T4 to the centre of Madrid. The last stop is Atocha where you can take the Commuter train (lines C-2 and C-7) to Alcalá de Henares. The price of this bus ticket is 2.00 €.

From downtown Madrid

By car

Take the highway A-2, direction Zaragoza, exit 23 to Alcalá de Henares (West). The ride takes around 30 minutes.

By train

From Chamartín, Nuevos Ministerios, Recoletos and Atocha railway stations in Madrid, take “Tren de Cercanías” (Commuter train). Once you have purchased your ticket, look for the platform of lines C-1/C-7 trains which have their final destination in Alcalá de Henares, or line C-2 trains with final destination in Guadalajara. You must get off in Alcalá de Henares.

The trip from downtown Madrid to Alcalá de Henares train station takes about 50 minutes, and it costs around 3 €.

By Bus

Madrid is well connected to Alcalá de Henares through the Intercambiador Avenida de América (Subway station Avenida de América). Once there, take the bus Nº 223 \(Alsa\), which departs to Alcalá de Henares every 10-15 minutes. The ride takes 40-45 minutes. The ticket costs 3.60 €.